

THE LAST OF US PART 2 - 25 Easter Eggs, Secrets & References

so after seven long years last week finally saw the release of The Last of Us Part 2 set 5 years after the first game The Last of Us Part 2 seeds you take control of Ellie who is now 19 now regardless of your own opinions of the game story or its characters today I just wanted to take a look at some pretty cool Easter eggs now some of the Easter eggs are found a little later in the game so you may see certain locations all characters that could be considered spoilers so consider this play spoiler warning of course there is always a chance that I have missed an Easter egg and if you think I have then the best place to let me know is in the comments section or on my social media accounts the links to which are in the description oh and if you go on to enjoy this video then I like is really appreciated anyway without further delay let's get started so what first let's take a look at some of the callbacks to the first game and believe me there are quite a few the first of these callbacks can be found as soon as you take control of Ellie after noticing the dusty PS3 how long have a copy of the Jak and Daxter remastered collection you can also find this toy robot will be immediately familiar to anyone who played the first game for those that didn't this is the toy robot that a young lady of never thought say

I'm not a fan soon

Nathan Drake costume and a giant Frankenstein model all of these items could be found in the Halloween store in The Last of Us Left Behind the expansion for the original game skeleton also appeared in Uncharted the Lost Legacy where you could ask if you should like this video And subscribe to Captain excellent and the answer would be the same every time so make of that what you will speaking of references to the left behind expansion in the arcade in The Last of Us 2 you can find these familiar cabinets cabinets for Jak X combat racing and the Turning those who played Left Behind may recall the scene where Ellie and Riley pretend to play the Turning complete with character health bars and combo inputs another neat little callback can be found when exploring Joel's house in Jackson

JoJo has a photo of himself and his daughter Sarah framed this is the same photo that Ellie gave Joel In The Last of Us 1 also I like how Joel has a picture of Ellie next to the picture of Sarah showing how much he cares for her too if that wasn't already obvious the final ref listen to the first game is probably my favorite so this is a reference to the numerous situations in the first game that required on a pallet to solve puzzles as she couldn't swim I think this particular reference is a really nice touch so after covering the call back to the last of us one let's take a look at some of the nods to other games

it's made by Naughty Dog no of course we've already covered the Uncharted 2 costume and the copy of Jak and Daxter found next to the PlayStation 3 but there are quite a few more items tucked away the first line of note is actually another Dusty PS3 though this time the games are a little different the PS3 in Eugene's Hideout has a copy of Uncharted 2 on top of a copy of Uncharted 1 along with another copy of the Jak and Daxter remastered collection of course all three games were developed by Naughty Dog I want for those one ring why it's a PS3 and not

PS4 it's because the infection started in The Last of Us in September 2013 and the PS4 didn't release until November 2013 which is a pretty cool attention to detail that's not the only interesting find in Eugene's Hideout as amongst the copious amounts of dead weed plants you can also find these hey Google song of the wolf smash Brandy scooch are these it's pouring interesting taste Eugene of the wolf is a nod to the dawn of the wolf the Twilight parody featured in the first game and smash Brandy's coach is a pretty obvious reference to Crash Bandicoot as Dina hopefully points out this is Eugene collection the next reference to another Naughty Dog developed game can be

who found in the bank in Seattle we were back in the old world so this ring engraved with the phrase sic parvis Magna is the same ring that Nathan Drake owns in the Uncharted series for those wondering sic parvis Magna is Latin and roughly translates into from Small Beginnings great things come so this next Easter egg doesn't actually reference a naughty dog game but it does reference a very underrated handheld system

Could not understand audio

Rector hello collectible hero card going by the name of Dr ockman is a reference to The Last of Us Part 2 director Neil Druckmann Neil is even taken to using the cards image as his profile picture on Twitter up next is something that I'm not sure is even please read but it's worth including because penis drawings will never not be funny as I said I'm pretty sure one of the most memorable things about the last of us as a series is the Excellence soundtrack composed by Gustavo Santaolalla thankfully Gustavo is back for the last

what's the most part 2 and not just in music form at the beginning of the game you can spot the starvo playing the guitar in Jackson what channel will be well aware of the 451 code by now the code a reference to the Ray Bradbury book Fahrenheit 451 is a pretty common sight in video games with recent titles such as Call of Duty Modern Warfare and Prey featuring the code along with many others too or not wanting to miss out the Last of Us Part 2 also features the famous code so along with the pallet reference that we covered earlier this next Easter egg is my favorite in the game when Jordan and Ellie visit the museum for Ellie's birthday they will discuss the dinosaurs on display with some pretty obvious references to a very famous dinosaur film series what is a velociraptor actually it's a DNA necklace pretty sure these are velociraptors compsognathus it's a big name for little girls

Brachiosaurus 8 600 lb of plants each day imagine the poops what is this movie and when can we see it when we get back to Jackson movie night I think the Jurassic Park references in this video are my favorite Easter eggs in the entire game so the final clips I wanted to share are a couple of the guitar scenes in the game the first of which is Joe singing to L part of the story so isn't really an Easter egg more of a reference but the song that Joel is singing is actually the song

Future Days by Pearl Jam the second song is miscible and can be found in the music store in Seattle and sees Ellie sing an acoustic version of a house take on me to Deena songs in the description so that's it that's 25 Easter egg secrets and references found in The Last of Us Part 2 as mentioned if you think I have missed an Easter egg then the best place to let me know is in the comment section or on my social media accounts the link to which are in the description if you want to support the channel further and get access to early videos and other perks then even click the join button down below or check out the link to my patreon in the description a big thank you to the following patrons and YouTube members Claire Lawrence
